

EVENTS OF INTEREST for FALL, 2019

BUILDING THE CALIPHATE ... IN MEDIEVAL EGYPTIAN ARCHITECTURE

Thursday, October 3, at 3:30 p.m., in GISB 2067

Professor Jennifer Pruitt will provide a lecture on the Construction, Destruction, and Sectarian Identity in Medieval Egyptian Architecture.

Sponsored by the Hamilton Lugar GIS and the IU Department of Art History

10th ANNUAL LATINO FAMILY NIGHT

Monday, Oct. 7, at Bloomington H.S. North, 3901 N. Kinser Pike, 5:30-7:30 p.m.

This event gives Latino families the chance to learn about educational opportunities for their children now and in the future, health services of various kinds, and different aspects of civic life in our community, all in a fun environment with activities, food, and a raffle! Sponsored by MCCSC, La Casa Latino Cultural Center-IU, the City of Bloomington-Latino Programs office, and El Centro Comunal Latino. Please share the information with Spanish & English families.

CJAM ANNUAL EVENT: DEALING WITH HATE, RACISM, AND POLARIZATION

Friday, Oct. 18; 5:30: Reception; 6:30: Dinner/Program; Woolery Mill, 2250 W. Sunstone Drive

CJAM invites you to join us for our annual fund-raising event that inspires peaceful resolution of conflict. Indiana University Maurer Law School Faculty and nationally-recognized scholar Jeannine Bell, will headline the evening, as she challenges us to "come to the table", in this era of increasing polarization and division—politically, racially, and economically. Professor Bell, who has written about hate crime and housing integration for the last 20 years, grapples with these issues in her talk. She will explore how the current state of housing segregation leads most Americans to live racially separate lives and close with a discussion of repairing this fracture, a challenge both harder and easier than one might think. Audience Q & A will follow.

THE BORDER IS HERE -- LOCAL IMMIGRATION ENFORCEMENT

Wednesday, Nov. 6, from 7-8:30, MCPL

This will be a public discussion dealing with the impact of local immigration enforcement, and its severe effects on immigrants in our community.

SALE OF AFRICAN-INSPIRED ARTWORK

Friday, Nov. 15, from 11-7 p.m., at Unitarian Universalist Church (Fee Lane & the Bypass)

This year there will be another fall holiday sale of Kenyan and African-inspired handblown glass, jewelry, cloth items, basketry, etc. This year the sale will be held at the Unit. Univ. Church in Room 208, a spacious sunny location. Parking is free, so you loyalists who braved the expensive Union lot will be particularly happy about that! The prices are very reasonable, the selection excellent after the Oct. Kenyan trip. We'll also be selling at the UU Bazaar in early Dec. at our booth, but the display is limited by space. We hope to see everyone there--have fun while doing good! For questions, call Claire Robertson at 812-336-3696 before Oct. 15.

REGISTRATION FOR ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS AND CERTIFICATION

Oct. 3-4, New Student Registration for English language learners

Some of the classes offer industry recognized certifications, such as Early Childhood Education, Microsoft Office, and Entrepreneurship & Small Business.

Contact: Robert D. Moore Director of Adult Education
Monroe County Community School Corporation, BROADVIEW LEARNING CENTER,
705 W. Coolidge Dr., Bloomington, IN 47403; Phone: 812-330-7731.

REMINDER! FIRST THURSDAYS FESTIVAL!

at IU's Showalter Fountain, Monthly throughout the semester